PARTNER PRESENTATION

SonikaAI for Business

Translation, narration, and file handling for your product.

Add ready-made document workflows to your product

You run the product and client relationships — SonikaAI handles the workflows.

Why this is hard to build on your own

Word translation breaks formatting — headers, tables, and styles fall apart. Every format needs another tool. Every client means manual tracking. Scaling that way gets harder over time.

What SonikaAI takes on

SonikaAI handles document workflows between your product and the outcome your client sees — translation, documents that look like the original, speech to text, and narration. One integration: your client only interacts with your product.

What your product gets

Manage clients independently

Separate access for each client or channel — from one place.

Documents in any format

Books, PDFs, reports, and structured files — one workflow, without a patchwork of converters.

Document layout preserved

A letter still looks like a letter. A contract still looks like a contract — even after translation. Word, ODT, and PDF.

Speech to text

Lectures, interviews, DSS and DS2 — turned into text. Then translation or narration in the same service.

Narration

A whole book or document — from the original or from translation. Natural voices, pauses set by the text structure.

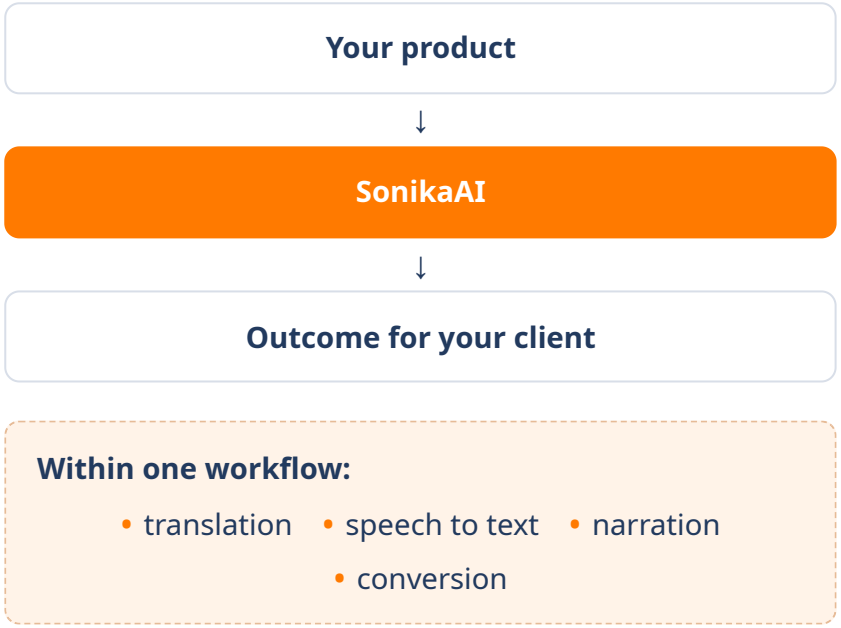

EU data privacy

Personal data masked in the EU before translation — in Word and in audio. Data processing agreement for partners.
